Sarah Hamilton
GE Energy Financial Services
Staffing

November 26, 2007

Dear Ms. Hamilton:

I recently came across a listing for Summer Associate position at GE Energy Financial Services on the corporate website. I was immediately intrigued by the job description and have a strong interest in beginning my career at GE. I am very impressed by the company's reputation for employing the best and brightest in the financial field, and I am confident in my ability to be an effective member of the GE team.

As a senior at the Moore School of Business of the University of South Carolina, I am presently majoring in Finance. I feel that my coursework in Finance, Accounting and Statistics has prepared me for the quantitative aspects of the financial services, and my international background will bring diversity and a unique perspective to the GE team. During the past summer, I worked as an Intern at Bayerische Hypo- und Vereinsbank AG in New York City. I gained valuable experience and knowledge in the areas of loan structuring and market research, which I am looking forward to build upon in the near future. My prior experience as a tennis instructor allowed me to develop organizational, and communication skills needed to excel in the financial world. I would look to build on this foundation as a Summer Associate.

Working as a Summer Associate for GE Energy Financial Services requires the ability to handle challenging assignments, along with the capacity to operate effectively in a team environment. My experiences as a professional tennis player and a member of the South Carolina Men's Varsity Tennis Team have instilled these attributes in me. I am particularly drawn to the team-oriented culture at GE, as I can appreciate the importance of sacrifice and collaboration in achieving group successes.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration, I look forward to discussing with you the ways I can contribute to GE's future. I will contact you in two weeks to answer any questions you might have.

Sincerely,

Jason Lucas Perez
