Scientific Style (Author Date)

Recommend for Natural and Social Sciences

Updated by JG 07/04

“The author-date system of documentation comprises two indispensable parts: the text citation, usually enclosed in parentheses, and the list of sources cited, often called the reference list.” Unlike the humanities style of documentation, in which full bibliographic information may be given in both notes and bibliography, the author-date system provides brief identifying information in the text citation and reserves full documentation for the list of references.

Type of Resource	Chicago Reference	Reference List Form	Parenthetical Note
Book - single author	Sec. 17.26	Rushdie, Salman. 1999. The Ground beneath Her Feet . New York: Henry Holt.	(Salman 1999, 54)

Book - edited no author	Sec. 17.41	Kamrany, Nake M., and Richard H. Day, eds. 1980. Economic issues of the eighties . Baltimore: John Hopkins Univ. Press.	(Kamrany and Day 1980)
Book – organization, association, or corporation as author	Sec. 17.47	British Standards Institute. 1985. Specifications for abbreviation of title words and titles of publications . Linford Woods, Milton Keynes, UK: British Standards Institute.	(British Standards Institute 1985)
Chapter or other titled parts of a book	Sec. 17.68	Phibbs, Brendan. 1987. Herrlisheim: Diary of a battle. In The other side of time: A combat surgeon in World War II , 117-63. Boston: Little, Brown.	(Phibbs 1987, 122-24)
Article from a journal	Sec. 17.163	Allison, G. W. 1999. The implications of experimental design for biodiversity manipulations. American Naturalist 153 (1): 26-45.	(Allison 1999)

*Newspapers are more commonly cited in notes or parenthetical references rather than in bibliographies. A list of works cited need not list newspaper items if these have been documented in the text.

Example: In an article on rampage killers (New York Times, April 10, 2000), Laurie Goodstein and William Glaberson describe the warning signs either missed or unreported by colleagues, friends, teachers, family members, and others.
