2016 Release of National Physical Activity Plan Update

NATIONAL PRESS CLUB

Newswise — WHAT:
Russel Pate, Ph.D., chairman of the National Physical Activity Plan Alliance, and Jim Whitehead, CEO of the American College of Sports Medicine, will unveil and explain innovative approaches and strategies of a new 2016 National Physical Activity Plan that will make a profound difference in American health. This is the second such plan in U.S. history, which builds on the first plan released in 2010. Progress at all levels of society will be highlighted, while noting new opportunities as well as challenges and their solutions. The plan provides a roadmap for actions that support and encourage physical activity among all Americans. Representatives from the American Heart Association and the President’s Council on Fitness, Sports and Nutrition will participate. Reflecting the multi- and cross-generational thrust of the National Plan, students from Whittier Education Campus, a public school in Washington, D.C., will lead adults in easy exercises to get people moving and demonstrate the benefits of physical activity!

WHO:
• Russell Pate, Chair, Board of Directors, National Physical Activity Plan Alliance
• Jim Whitehead, CEO, American College of Sports Medicine
• Joan Benoit Samuelson, Olympic Women’s Marathon Champion, Los Angeles 1984
• Eduardo Sanchez, Chief Medical Officer for Prevention, American Heart Association
• John Dreyzehner, Commissioner, Tennessee Department of Health
• Shellie Pfohl – Executive Director, President’s Council on Fitness, Sports and Nutrition
