Schedule Code: 89452

UNIV 401-001 is a capstone seminar for students interested in applying to medical school. This course will provide students an overview of the issues in medical school and health care and focuses on information relevant to pre-medical students’ medical education and future careers.

UNIV 401-002: Preparing for a Career in Higher Education/Student Affairs (3 credits)

TTh 5:00 - 6:15 PM Nursing 136
Schedule Code: 301843

UNIV 401-002 is a capstone seminar for juniors and seniors interested in a career in student affairs/higher education. This course will provide students with an overview of the major components and functions of a college/university in an effort to help students to identify the various career options available within student affairs and higher education. Students will reflect on their collegiate experience to date, and articulate their rationale for pursuing a career in student affairs/higher education, and how the skills they have developed during college will translate into gaining admission to a graduate program, and securing an assistantship, that suits their individual needs and interests.
