Contents

Foreword vii

Phillip Lopate

Preface ix

Acknowledgments xiii

Part 1—The Journal as Tool

Journaling—a Stepping Stone 3

James Brown

The Use of the Journal in Writing the

Private Eye Novel 9

Sue Grafton

On Meeting Yourself 17

Robin Hemley

Journal—the Place of No Limit 23

Kim Stafford

Using My Notebook 30

Ilan Stavans

A Life Observed 35

Katherine Towler

Blogging like a Child-Arsonist 43

Tony Trigilio

Part 2—The Journal for Survival

“Musements” and Mental Health 55

Zan Bockes

Clearing the Decks 62

Kathleen Gerard

Le Misérable 69

Maureen Stanton

Sea of Blue Ink 77

Kathryn Wilkens
Part 3—The Journal for Travel
From an Audience of One to an Audience of Anyone  87
  Wendy Call
Writing in Public Places  93
  Bonnie Morris
Notes from an Accidental Journal Keeper  101
  Michael Steinberg

Part 4—The Journal as Muse
Holdalls  113
  John DuFresne
My Own Particular Custom  121
  Reginald Gibbons
Thoughts on a Writer’s Journal  126
  Rebecca McClanahan
From Writer’s Notebook to Poetic Journal  135
  Mark Pawlak
The Icebreaker  141
  Lori Van Pelt

Part 5—The Journal for Life
Daily Doodles  149
  Dorianne Laux
Forgetting to Remember—Why I Keep a Journal  154
  Kyoko Mori
Keeping Up with the Days  162
  Peter Selgin
Anne Frank Redux  173
  Karen de Balbian Verster
Journaling without the Journal  181
  Michelle Wildgen

Appendix I Use Journaling to Spark Your Writing  185
Appendix II A Journaling Workout  193
Sources and Further Readings  195
Contributors  199