The business administration curriculum allows sufficient flexibility for adaptation to a student’s particular interests and goals. A minimum of 121 hours is required for the B.S. degree. They are divided between courses in business administration and general education courses in English, history, foreign languages, natural and behavioral sciences, and other disciplines. All business administration students are required to earn 33–34 hours in a common core sequence of business subjects. A minimum of 12 additional hours constitutes the major field of specialization. The business administration curriculum also includes 12 to 18 hours of advisor approved course work to be taken in business or economics. If the major field of specialization requires more than 12 hours, the remaining business or economics course work is reduced accordingly. Students have the option of using the 12–18 hours of advisor-approved courses, if available, in directed general education courses.

The school has developed options designed to complement core and major requirements. Structured areas of concentration and specialization are available in such areas as entrepreneurship and management of human resources. Information and assistance in the development and selection of options are available through the advising facilities of the school.

| The business administration curriculum allows sufficient flexibility for adaptation to a student’s particular interests and goals. A minimum of 121 hours is required for the B.S. degree in all majors except Accounting, which requires 126 hours, and International Business, which requires a minimum of 127 hours for the B.S. degree. They are divided between courses in business administration and general education courses in English, history, foreign languages, natural and behavioral sciences, and other disciplines. All business administration students are required to earn 39 hours in a common core sequence of business subjects. The major field for all majors except Accounting and International Business* requires 12-21 hours beyond the common core. If a major requires only 12 hours, then a minimum of 9 additional hours of advisor-approved course work in business/ economics must be completed. A minimum of 18 credit hours in additional directed general education courses is required.
* The Accounting major requires 26 hours.
International Business requires a second major in Business. IB double majors range from 27-36 hours, depending on the double major selected. |
