Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to outline the regulations to provide oversight of residential student conduct.

Definitions

Resident: a student that is assigned to a university owned or operated residential living facility.

Student: A person who is currently enrolled at the university, or who is accepted for admission or readmission to the university, or who has been enrolled at the university in a prior semester or summer session and is eligible to continue enrollment in the semester or summer session that immediately follows, or who is attending an educational program sponsored by the university while that person is on campus, or who engaged in prohibited conduct at a time when the individual met the above criteria. Individuals who are not currently enrolled at the university remain subject to the disciplinary process for conduct that occurred while they were enrolled.

Policy Statement

Residents are held to the Student Code of Conduct as well as housing regulations. University Housing is responsible for promoting positive community standards and responding to violations. Students are advised to read the Student Code of Conduct, University Policy STAF 6.26 Student Code of Conduct and University Housing Policies and Regulations, University Policy STAF 4.03 Campus Housing Policies and Regulations – Activities in Hall for information regarding expectations for their behavior while in or on the premises of University residence halls.

Procedures

A. In accordance with UNIV 3.04 University Housing reserves the right to modify and/or amend stated policies and procedures during a period of crisis, including but not limited to a communicable disease outbreak or weather related natural disaster.

B. Students who violate terms of the housing contract, the Code of Student Conduct or other housing policies may be subject to disciplinary action.
