

|| HUMAN RELATIONS MONTH

OVERVIEW

Human Relations Month, which will be launched on October 1, 2018, is a month-long series of trainings, programs, and events designed to educate the University of South Carolina community about diversity, social justice, equality, and human relations.

GOAL

The goal of this month-long celebration is to provide the University of South Carolina Community information and educational opportunities pertaining to diversity, equality, and illegal discrimination/harassment. Faculty and staff will be required to complete a series of mandatory electronic educational courses and invited to attend a series of live training courses and forums.

THE OBJECTIVE

- ✚#1: Launch mandatory faculty/staff diversity and inclusion training
- ✚#2: Launch mandatory faculty/staff Illegal Discrimination and Harassment training
- ✚#3: Offer a series of optional trainings and forums for faculty and staff.
- ✚#4: Educate the University community regarding proper reporting protocols, University policies, and human relationships and diversity skills.

SPONSOR

This event is sponsored by the Office of Equal Opportunity Programs, coordinated by the EOP Director of Training, and presented in conjunction with the Office of Diversity and Inclusion and the Division of Human Resources.
