Linked Courses

Linked Courses provide hands-on learning opportunities to students in a collaborative environment. This is a unique living situation that allows students to go beyond traditional academic boundaries and engage in learning that is relevant to their personal and professional interests. The courses are designed to be integrated into the students' academic programs, offering an opportunity to explore new topics and perspectives in a practical and meaningful way.

What are Linked Courses?

Linked Courses are a part of the University of South Carolina’s commitment to providing students with a rich and diverse learning experience. These courses are designed to complement the students’ academic programs and provide them with a deeper understanding of their chosen fields.

Where Students Live

Students living in Linked Courses communities have the chance to engage with a diverse group of peers who share common interests and goals. This fosters a collaborative and supportive environment that enhances the learning experience.

How Do I Apply?

To apply for a Linked Course, students are required to submit a statement of interest. This statement should outline why the student is interested in participating in the program and how it aligns with their academic and personal goals. Applications are reviewed by the program leaders, who consider the student's academic background, interests, and motivations in making the selection.
