The Native American Studies Center announces the creation of its monthly Lunch and Learn Series. Lectures will begin in April and take place every 3rd Friday at noon (12PM) in the classroom of the Native American Studies Center located at 119 South Main Street, Lancaster, SC.

April 19th Lecture by Professor Brent Burgin, Director of Archives, Native American Studies Center

The history of the Catawba Nation is an incredible story of survival. In 1700, it is estimated there were about 8,000 Catawba Indians. In 1800 there were only 120. Despite a century of non-ending warfare, slavery, and disease on an epic scale the Catawbas survived to create today's dynamic and vibrant culture. Come and hear their story.

All are invited to attend these free public lectures which cover topics related to local culture and regional history. Participants are invited to bring a bag lunch. Lectures will last approximately 30 minutes with an additional 15 minutes for questions.

Please direct any questions or comments regarding the series to Brent Burgin at 803-313-7063 or wburgin@sc.edu. Mr. Burgin welcomes suggestions and ideas for future talks and speakers.
