“The Elusive Cheraw Indians of South Carolina” By: Christopher Judge, USCL Professor and Native American Studies Center Archaeologist

The Cheraw Indians of the Carolinas were an important entity in the Colonial era. In this lecture, I will discuss an ethnohistoric process to identify the cultural affiliation of two individuals interred at the Johannes Kolb Site, in Darlington County, South Carolina. I trace the movement of the Cheraw across the Piedmont of North Carolina and ultimately to the Great Pee Dee River and beyond in an attempt to write a brief history for these two people that I believe are Cheraw.

Please direct any questions or comments regarding the series to Brent Burgin at 803-313-7063 or wbburgin@sc.edu. Mr. Burgin welcomes suggestions and ideas for future talks and speakers.
