General Information

Accreditation
Students may review copies of documents regarding entities that accredit, license, or approve the institution and its programs. The University of South Carolina is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award Associates, Baccalaureate, Masters, and Doctorate degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of the University of South Carolina. The Commission requests that it be contacted only if there is evidence that appears to support an institution’s noncompliance with a requirement or standard. Accreditation information can be found at http://www.ipr.sc.edu/sacs/ with the Office of Institutional Research, Assessment, and Analytics.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)
In carrying out their assigned responsibilities, many offices at the University of South Carolina collect and maintain information about students. All records belong to the university, according to university policy and federal regulations, but students have many rights concerning these records. The Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act passed in 1974, outlines the governance of access to and disclosure of student records.

To fulfill FERPA requirements, the university has established policies on student records. These policies indicate the information disclosed in directories, an explanation about parental access to student records, and a detailed description of student rights. The policies on student records are on the web at:
https://sc.edu/about/offices_and_divisions/registrar/toolbox/records_and_security/ferpa_guide/index.php

For more information or to receive a copy, contact the Office the University Registrar, 1244 Blossom St., Suite 106 Columbia, SC 29201 or by phone at 803-777-5555.

Because the university does not maintain all student records in one location, each office maintaining student records is required to develop a written statement of policies and procedures for handling student records. They are available in their respective offices. The university also has copies of university policies on student records on its website at http://www.sc.edu/policies/policiesbysubject.php#R.

State Authorization

While parts of these rules have been challenged and vacated, other rules remain in effect, including state authorization in individual states. Be alert to potential scholarship fraud!

According to the Federal Trade Commission, perpetrators of financial aid fraud often use the following lines to sell their scholarship services. Students should avoid any scholarship service or website that states one or all the following:

- “This scholarship is guaranteed or your money back.”
- “You can’t get this information anywhere else.”
- “I just need your credit card or bank account number to hold this scholarship.”
- “We’ll do all the work.”
- “This scholarship will cost some money.”
- “You’ve been selected by a ‘national foundation’ to receive a scholarship” or “You’re a finalist” in a contest you never entered.

The College Scholarship Fraud Prevention Act of 2000 was passed to protect against fraud in student financial aid by establishing stricter sentencing guidelines for criminal financial aid fraud. The U.S. Department of Education notes that there is no need for any student to pay for college preparation or financial aid advice. High school counselors, college financial aid administrators, and the Federal Student Aid Information Center all provide help for free.

Visit https://studentaid.gov/resources/scams for lists of fraud warning signs and free sources of aid information.

If you believe you’ve been a victim of scholarship fraud, call 1-877-FTC-HELP or report it online at https://reportfraud.ftc.gov/#/.
