Moore School of Business Undergraduate Scholarships

Moore School of Business departmental scholarships are competitive and limited. The number and amount of scholarships awarded vary and are subject to funds available. Students receiving awards are expected to have high GPAs and exemplary records of achievement. While a number of factors are considered, the majority of BA scholarships are based on academic performance. An applicant must have a 3.0 to be eligible for a scholarship and the majority of Moore School scholarship recipients have a G.P.A. of 3.5 or higher.

The following guidelines have been adopted by the Moore School Scholarship Committee:

- Recipients must be full-time students enrolled in the Moore School on the Columbia campus.
- Academic merit is the primary consideration.
- Scholarships may include other selection criteria as specified by donors, such as class standing, major, residency, or financial need.
