MINOR IN ANTHROPOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

This minor consists of eighteen (18) semester hours.

ANTH 101—Primates, People and Prehistory
ANTH 102—Understanding Other Cultures

And four (4) courses of your choice at the 200-level or above.

In certain cases

ANTH 101 or ANTH 102 can be exempted by permission of the Undergraduate Director in the Department and replaced with other anthropology courses to maintain the correct number of credits for the degree.

MINOR IN MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

The Medical Anthropology minor offers a range of courses that explore how health, illness, and wellbeing are shaped, experienced, and understood in the context of social, cultural, historical, economic, and political forces. Medical anthropology is steadfastly committed to ethnography for its empirical merits and value for theory building. It encourages students to apply insights about cultures to health-related studies across the university, including studies in biological, psychological, and social sciences, as well as other pre-medical and pre-health fields. Current trends in education and employment show a growing need for medical anthropology knowledge and expertise in a variety of national and international career sectors. Given that societies and communities are increasingly multicultural, healthcare must adapt to this trend.

The minor in Medical Anthropology consists of 18 credit hours or 6 classes.

- Departmental or Honors College special topics courses or field schools related to medical anthropology may fulfill the restricted electives requirement, provided that the course substitutions are pre-approved by the office of the Dean of Undergraduate Student Affairs and Advising in Flinn Hall in consultation with faculty content experts in the Department of Anthropology; bring a syllabus to Flinn Hall for the course you want pre-approved. Appeals to register in pre-approved honors college courses should be directed to the Honors College.

Things to Remember for Undergraduate Advisement

The Anthropology Department is committed to quality academic advising. Each student enrolled in the Department is assigned a faculty advisor whose specialty most closely matches the student's interests. The faculty advisor must sign advisement forms and monitor the progression toward the degree. The advisor cautions the student to make certain that academic programs are completed in a timely manner. This is especially important since not all required courses may be offered each semester. It is the responsibility of students to keep track of their courses and make sure that their programs satisfy department and College graduation requirements.

Reminders:

1. Make your appointment for Advisement with your advisor through Navigate (Pathfinder) https://sc.edu/about/offices\_and\_divisions/advising/
2. Get your file from the Main Office (Gambrell Hall 440) and take it to your advisement appointment with ideas about the courses you would like to take.
3. It is ultimately the responsibility of the student to make sure s/he fulfills the requirements for the degree.
4. Following advisement, the student must take a copy of the signed advisement form to the departmental Undergraduate Co-Ordinator. Only then will the student be cleared on the computer for registration.
5. During the student's the last semester of their Junior Year, s/he must call the office of the Dean (777-2993) and make an appointment for a Senior Check. The Major Program Card (available in the Department of Anthropology Office, Gambrell Hall, Suite 440) must be completed in advance of the Senior Check. The student should schedule an appointment with his/her advisor to fill out the Major Program card in time to take it to the appointment at the Dean's office – Flinn Hall.
6. The student must apply for graduation at the Dean's office in the first month of their last semester.

NOTE:

The normal course load is 15-18 hours per semester. In order to take 19 or more hours, a student must have attained in the previous full semester an average of 3.0 or better on a minimum of 12 hours taken on a non-pass/fail basis. In order to enroll in independent study, a student must have a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher. No student may apply more than 15 hours of Independent Study credits toward the degree. Courses taken on a pass/fail basis can only be used as free electives. This option is available only to students with a GPA of 2.000 and above and for no more than 8 courses. No grade of D will be permitted to count toward a student's major, minor, or cognate. If necessary, the course must be repeated, raising the number of hours required for graduation. In order to graduate, the student must have a minimum of 120 applicable hours (and no more than a total of 180 hours attempted or earned, including AP, etc. credits), meet all course requirements, be in good standing, meet departmental and/or program requirements, and have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.000 on all work completed at USC.

Help your advisor help you!

😊 Be on time for your appointment.

😊 If you are in trouble with a specific course, or all of your courses, be prepared to discuss this matter. Be open to your advisor's suggestions for using the Student Success Center, Writing Center, Math Lab, etc.

😊 If you are undecided about your major or you are having second thoughts about your major, ask your advisor's opinion. Your advisor cannot make your decision for you, but he or she can suggest possibilities and refer you to other sources for help and information.

😊 Have an idea about which courses you would like to take in the upcoming semester, and listen carefully to your advisor's recommendations. Familiarize yourself with the pre-requisites for the courses that you wish to take. Be sure you have met the pre-requisites.

😊 Ask questions about your progress toward meeting your Core/Gen. Ed. requirements, major requirements, major course sequences and other course requirements for your degree. Review your progress toward graduation.

😊 Remember that Degree Works is a tool/guide; and not the final say of when you will graduate or how your credits are applied to your major requirements. If you have a questions, please contact the Undergraduate Co-Ordinator.

Course Description:

The course is an introduction to the science of biological anthropology. Biological anthropology is a subfield of anthropology that emphasizes a focus on humanity and its origin from a biological perspective. As a subfield of Anthropology, biological anthropology recognizes the complex interaction of biology and culture in the evolutionary development of the human species. In this class we study the basic concepts and mechanisms of evolution and the evolutionary history of humankind from primate beginnings to anatomically and behaviorally modern Homo sapiens. The course is divided into 3 sections: 1) the science of anthropology and the models and mechanisms of human evolution; 2) modern human variation and adaptation, and our relationships to non-human primates; and 3) the origin, development, and dispersal of humans using evidence from the fossil record (paleoanthropology) and archaeological remains. Along the way, it illustrates the ways in which anthropologists learn about the past and how we can use our knowledge of the past to understand the present.

The most basic goal of this course is to become better informed as to how scientific anthropological approaches contribute to our understanding of what it means to be a member of the human species. We are a product of our past as well as present, and this course hopes to show how understanding our biological and cultural history (through the theory and method of the science of anthropology) can provide us with a better understanding of humanity.

We will consider how anthropologists study other cultures; we will discuss anthropological theories; and we will study cultures across the world—including our own. With these insights, we will consider how in thinking anthropologically teachers can apply what we learn from the assigned texts, films, and discussions to their own classrooms.

Course Description:

African American culture has a long history in the United States involving traditions, lifeways, music, migration, and other cultural practices often rooted in the South. These experiences, over time, contributed to the idea of African American “peoplehood” and culture. Over the course of the term, students will gain an understanding of African American culture in the United States. From the Gullah in South Carolina, to the Great Migration (from the South to the North), to issues of cultural identity, to folklore, traditions, and beliefs, this course examines cultural practices and production, as well as the varied experiences of African Americans in the United States (due to color, gender, and class), from slavery to the present. The course will involve readings, films, lectures, and discussions.
