RE: Bilinski Fellowships
    Call for Nominations due Friday, April 6, 2018

One of the College of Arts and Sciences’ strategic goals is “to develop the next generation of intellectual leadership through excellent doctoral programs and graduate programs at the master’s and certificate levels.” Through the generosity of the Bilinski Foundation, we are able to offer up to twelve (12) Russell J. and Dorothy S. Bilinski Fellowships during the 2018-2019 academic year to doctoral students beginning the final stage of their studies in the humanities and social sciences.

Each Russell J. and Dorothy S. Bilinski Fellowship is worth $30,000; this year fellows will also receive a $1,250 stipend for travel on behalf of their dissertation research. Students enrolled in any of the College’s Doctor of Philosophy programs in the humanities and social sciences may be nominated, although students in the social sciences should be pursuing research with a humanistic focus. Students must be admitted to candidacy in their degree program, have passed comprehensive exams, and have received approval of their dissertation proposal. They also must meet additional criteria related to citizenship and financial need. Fellowships are for 2018-2019 and are not renewable. Please see the Russell J. and Dorothy S. Bilinski Dissertation Fellowships Administrative Guidelines (attached) for eligibility requirements.

The Russell J. and Dorothy S. Bilinski Fellowships will be awarded by a competitive process. Nominations must be made by the unit offering the degree program. A maximum of eight (8) nominations for Bilinski Fellowships may be submitted by any eligible doctoral program. In cases of multiple nominations, a letter ranking the nominations and justifying the ranking must be supplied by the unit.

Two-Stage Evaluation Process
A full description of the two-stage evaluation process is included in the attached Russell J. and Dorothy S. Bilinski Dissertation Fellowships Administrative Guidelines. The first stage of the process occurs at the unit level and must take place well in advance of the submission deadline of April 6, 2018. We strongly suggest that an internal plan be established in December 2017 and that the unit’s stage of the process be initiated in January 2018 with completion by Friday, March 2, 2018. Nominees selected by the unit during this internal stage of the process will need to complete the FAFSA form by March 14, 2018. The second stage of the selection process takes place at the College level, beginning with receipt of nominations no later than April 6, 2018 and concluding with notifications of results by May 4, 2018.

The timeline included at the end of this memorandum may be helpful in organizing the requisite tasks.
