Scope
University of South Carolina (USC) School of Medicine Greenville applicants

Policy Statement
USC School of Medicine Greenville will consider applications from U.S. citizens or permanent residents who completed their undergraduate studies at an international institution.

Reason for Policy
To provide USC School of Medicine students clarity on international coursework.

Procedures
An applicant’s undergraduate degree can be from an international university if the applicant provides, at their expense, a World Education Services (WES) transcript evaluation. These grades will not appear on the American Medical College Application Service (AMCAS) application. The WES transcript must be emailed or submitted to the Admissions Committee via the Application Update Form on the USC School of Medicine Greenville website. In addition, the undergraduate degree can be from a foreign university if the applicant also has a graduate degree (Masters or PhD) from a U.S. institution. The graduate degree must be in a related science field. Prerequisite courses can be taken at an international university if higher level science courses are completed at a graduate program at a U.S. institution.
