LCME Standards

1.2- Conflict of Interest

Scope

All University of South Carolina (UofSC) School of Medicine Greenville employed and affiliated faculty

Policy Statement

The faculty of the UofSC School of Medicine Greenville will seek prior administrative approval of outside professional activities, as required by University policy (ACAF 1.50), and will report these activities annually.

Reason for Policy

Faculty, researchers, and scholars are given various degrees of freedom in scheduling their activities with the understanding that their external professional activities will enhance the quality of their contributions to the University and its mission. One's first duty is to perform the work required by one's position effectively, however, outside professional activities are allowed and encouraged so long as they do not conflict with the expected performance of duties and obligations to the University. Our faculty are granted various levels of freedom in attending to responsibilities outside of the University.

The University and its faculty have a joint obligation to see that fair and reasonable standards and procedures covering outside professional activities are developed, disseminated and implemented.

Faculty applying for, or participating in, governmental grants or contracts must adhere to and comply with the specific governmental conflict of interest or commitment regulations in addition to those specified in this document. Engagement of faculty in outside activities raises potential for conflicts that must be recognized, disclosed and managed.

- Conflicts of Interest (CoI) are situations in which faculty members may have the opportunity to influence the University's activities in ways that could lead to inappropriate personal gain or give improper advantage to their associates.

- Conflicts of Commitment (CoC) are situations in which a faculty member's external professional activities significantly interfere with the individual's obligations to students, colleagues, and/or the University in performance of teaching, scholarship, research and service.

Procedures

All UofSC-employed and affiliated faculty of the University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville are required to obtain approval and report their outside activities as detailed below.

Reporting of Activities:

a. Compensation for the professional practice activity of the faculty of the affiliated clinical departments of the School of Medicine Greenville, the majority of whom are employed by the health system, is covered by the policies and procedures in effect for the health system and is not reportable under the Outside Professional Activities for Faculty Guidelines.

Where service exchange agreements are established between the USC School of Medicine Greenville, and the health system or other entities, the work performed by the faculty member for the reciprocating institution falls under the direction of the Dean and is incorporated within the faculty member's job description. The scope of the work to be performed under service exchange agreements should be well-defined and must be approved by the Dean (or designee).

b. Certain consulting activities may be considered part of the regular professional duties of the faculty. Consultation and cooperation with the health system, external granting agencies, professional societies, and other medical or educational institutions on matters of mutual interest and/or public benefit are reportable under the Outside Professional Activities for Faculty policy, however, whether or not they are compensated. The faculty member must seek advice and input from his/her supervisor, or the Office of Faculty Affairs in advance concerning reportability. Activities that are expected to consume considerable time and/or involve remuneration require careful consideration and are generally considered to be reportable.

c. Participation in a service or teaching contract with another college, university, or other academic institution requires explicit departmental approval prior to any work being performed, and acceptance of any academic title (e.g. adjunct or visiting professor appointments) must be reported annually.

d. Compensated services or for-profit activities as described in ACAF 1.50, Section I, paragraph D which are not covered in a. or b. above and are not part of regular professional duties must be reported under the Outside Professional Activities for Faculty policy. Such services include:

- Contracts with any private sector entity (individual, business, or corporation), ownership of or equity holding in a business or corporation, management or board position in a business or corporation,
  - Participation in a contract or proposal through an entity other than the University,
  - Academic remuneration noted as fees and honoraria as allowed by the State of South Carolina Ethics Law
- Faculty members should seek approval in advance for such from his/her supervisor on a case-by-case basis.

e. Unpaid consulting/pro bono service: The University encourages pro bono work for reasonable time periods and without substantial allocation of University resources, as a normal and desirable activity for faculty. Reporting pro bono work allows the University to properly recognize such work which benefits the University. Reporting these activities is required for tracking purposes, even if they are exempt under a. or b. above. Pro bono service must not conflict with completion of normal work responsibilities and is subject to the same process of approval by the chair or supervisor as other outside activity.

f. Each faculty member shall report annually on all outside professional activities over the previous year and known or anticipated activities for the coming year to the reviewing local department chair or unit head, who holds the responsibility for determining the appropriateness of each activity with respect to possible Conflicts of Interest (CoI) or Conflicts of Commitment (CoC). Such reports shall be submitted through the University's central reporting system.

g. The Dean will report annually to the Provost, indicating school compliance with approved policies, noting instances deserving review and actions taken.

h. If a faculty member disagrees with his/her supervisor's assessment of whether a given activity constitutes an "appearance of impropriety," the faculty member may appeal the supervisor's decision through appropriate administrative channels to the Provost. If, after review by the Provost, the faculty member continues to disagree with the assessment of the activity, s/he may appeal the decision to the University Committee on Conflict of Interest. The University CoI Committee will review the circumstances of the decision and make a recommendation to the Provost. If a faculty member disagrees with the decision of the Provost, s/he may appeal the decision through the faculty grievance procedures outlined in the Columbia campus Faculty Manual.
