This part may be played by the bass clarinetist. If so, the player must move quickly to make the bass clarinet entrance three measures after the saxophone solo.
The saxophone is quite independent in this piece, doubling bits of other instruments' lines, acting as an individual voice in an imitative section, or occasionally taking a brief role.