

UNIVERSITY OF
SOUTH CAROLINA

Arnold School of Public Health

DEPARTMENT OF EXERCISE SCIENCE

Clinical Assistant/Associate Professor in the Doctoral Program in Physical Therapy

The Doctoral Program in Physical Therapy at the University of South Carolina is inviting applications for a clinical faculty position (non-tenure track) to begin in July 2020.

The successful candidate at the Clinical Assistant Professor level must have a degree (BS, MS, or DPT) in physical therapy and have an earned terminal academic doctoral degree (PhD) in a rehabilitation related field by the start date of employment. The successful candidate at the Clinical Associate Professor level must also have at least 5 years of relevant academic experience. All applicants must be eligible for PT licensure in the state of South Carolina. Applicants with advanced credentials, including specialty certification or fellowship training, and/or expertise in orthopedic physical therapy, are especially encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate will: teach courses in area of specialization, advise physical therapy students, supervise DPT student research, mentor PhD students, participate in service to the program and community, and engage in scholarship. The position is a 10.5 or 12-month position and rank and salary are commensurate with experience and expertise.

The DPT program at the University of South Carolina (www.sph.sc.edu/dpt) is a fully-accredited entry-level program that is housed within the nationally recognized Department of Exercise Science in the Arnold School of Public Health. The small class size of 30 DPT students allows clinical faculty to creatively use a wide variety of learning approaches while also allowing substantial time for scholarly activity.

The University of South Carolina is a (R1) Carnegie University of Very High Research Activity and of Community Engagement. Located centrally in the state of South Carolina, the capital city of Columbia is known for abundantly available recreational, cultural and educational opportunities that provide the opportunity for an excellent quality of life. The University is comprehensive with five Health Sciences colleges that include the Arnold School of Public Health, School of Medicine, College of Nursing, College of Pharmacy, and College of Social Work. The Arnold School is composed of six departments and several research Institutes and Centers. The Department of Exercise Science offers BS, MS, MPH, ATC, DPT, and PhD degrees and the Department's PhD program has been ranked among the top programs of its kind in the U.S. The Department currently serves over 1000 undergraduate and 200 graduate students.

TO APPLY: Applications require a: 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) research statement, 4) teaching statement, and 5) contact information for three references. Submit your application at the following link: <http://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/69772>. If you have questions please contact Dr. Stacy Fritz, Search Committee Co-Chair at fritz@sc.edu. Review of applications will begin in November 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2020.

The University does not discriminate in employment practices based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender, age, disability, sexual orientation, genetics, protected veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions.