Promoting maternal, infant, and child nutrition

Maternal, infant, and child nutrition includes the study and promotion of biological, interpersonal, interpersonal, institutional, and policy level influences on nutrition wellbeing across the lifespan for women and children.